Join the Dots to target cyber creeps

Bravehearts key purpose is to educate, empower and protect Australian kids from sexual assault

Our vision is to make Australia the safest place in the world to raise a child by 2020. To achieve this we depend on business, government and community support. This will ensure continued delivery of our school-based prevention programs as well as training, counselling, support and advocacy for survivors. It will also allow continued research and important legislative reform agenda.

Since its inception in 1997, Bravehearts has successfully moved this once taboo subject out of the shadows and into the light. As a result of its persistence, this distinction was acknowledged and supported by the Commonwealth Government and its COAG partners via the National Framework for the Protection of Australia's Children (2009-2020).

It is only through increasing general awareness, increasing skills and capacity building for those working and living with children, preventative strategies, education and strong policies and legislation that we can accomplish our mission - to stop child sexual assault in society. Our specialist services are instrumental in preventing the sexual assault of Australian children and giving hope and healing to the most vulnerable and precious members of our community - our kids.

Bravehearts was founded by Hetty Johnston during Child Protection Week, September 1997.

Bravehearts Inc. operates under an Article of Association, is operated by a Board of Management and is assisted by a Professional Advisory Committee. We are registered under the Collections Act 1995. ABN and GST registered (14 496 913 993) as a registered Charity and are registered with the ATO as a DGR (Deductible Gift Recipient). We employ more than 50 staff across 18 offices.

Bravehearts’ members comprise survivors, parents, friends, partners, professionals and non-abusive members of the community who share in the belief that child sexual assault must stop.

Bravehearts aims to empower, educate and protect by providing help, support, resources for children and their families, and education about child sexual assault prevention and protection strategies; advocating for understanding and promoting increased education and research.

Bravehearts operates in four states across the Eastern seaboard with headquarters in Queensland and offices in New South Wales, Victoria and Tasmania.

What’s Join the Dots?

Cybercrime is on the rise but we know that there are “tricks” and “hacks” out there that target young people like you online. Join the Dots is a private reporting tool that helps you take action and protect your space.

Why use it?

Join the Dots is a safe and easy way for you to report online abuse and have us take action to stop it. We will keep your privacy and protect your online space.

You might think that something happened was no big deal, but police can’t do anything if they don’t get involved with the police. So sometimes the only you have to turn the other person is to report it. That’s why we came up with this idea for Join the Dots - to stop online abuse before it gets even bigger and bigger.

How do I use the site?

Join the Dots is easy. You can even do it on a mobile phone or any other device. All you need to do is sign up and choose your name. Once you’ve signed up, you can access the tool to report abuse.
